AU19 All Undergraduates Eligible for MSLC
Tutoring (in blue)

Free drop-in tutoring available for most first year math and stat courses (1000 level, some 2000 level)

Graduate Teaching Assistants and Undergraduates serve as tutors

Undergraduate tutors go through a research-based math-specific training program

Autumn 2020:

Online drop-in tutoring for Math and Stats via Zoom

Math tutoring via email

Hours typically 10:20am-7:30pm Mon-Thurs, 3-7pm Sun

How does Zoom tutoring work?

Receptionist greets students when they log into the Zoom meeting

Makes sure technology is working, puts students into a queue and then into breakout room with a tutor

Tutor and student work one-on-one in the breakout room

Can use audio/video, screen sharing, shared whiteboard

Tutor helps student on one problem, then student can go back into the queue for help on additional problems

Zoom Guidelines Provided to Students

- We cannot check all of your homework problems, teach you the course, or solve problems for you
- To help you succeed, we will provide hints, ask questions to help you think about the mathematics in different ways, and assist you in making realizations on your own.
- For Zoom, recommend you have audio communication and a method of writing on your screen or sharing pictures
- For email, send a picture of the original homework problem as well as any work. Be as specific as possible regarding where you need help.
